

How the data of your deceased family members (regardless of religious belief or nationality) became the property of the scandalous mormon church

It all started when I was looking for my grandfather's data...

I know who he was, what his name was, where he worked and where he was born. I was looking for his documents. The communist government committed another crime forcing him and his family to give up his identity, — a basic human right — the family name. He would have lost his job and would have been punished in several ways for denying to give up his identity. His crime? The German family name which was NOR tolerated, NOR accepted.

This undocumented crime, called 'aggressive nationalization' was committed several times in history by the government.

I contacted the National Archives of Hungary and I was suggested by them looking at the databases of FamilySearch.

I noticed at the bottom of the FamilySearch website: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and I realized this was the scandalous mormon church.

This mormon church is advertising 'FREE' Family Search service for the entire planet in the name of 'Family'.

'It's all about family. FamilySearch is a nonprofit family history organization dedicated to connecting families across generations. FamilySearch believes that families bring joy and meaning to life.'

The website claims that all information is owned or licensed by the mormon church...

I doubt that the entire planet: Atheist, Baptist, Christian, Catholic, Jewish, Orthodox, Protestant, Reformed, Muslim, Buddhist and other religious or non-religious people would consent to giving their deceased family members' data and private certificates to a notorious mormon church, registered in Utah, USA, well-known for illegal and unethical activities (tax evasion, sex abuse etc.)

Apparently the net worth of the mormon church is $100 billion.

'If confirmed, the $100 billion net worth would exceed the combined net worths of the world's largest university endowment (Harvard University) and the world's largest philanthropic foundation (Gates Foundation).'

I do not know yet how this data is used in reality or whom it is sold to.

There is NO such thing as a free product. When a product is free, YOU are the product.

It is well-known that Google, Facebook and similar companies sell consumer's data and photographs to third parties. (All pictures uploaded on Facebook and similar websites are sold to Chinese AI and other companies, which is a TRILLION dollar business.)

The data on FamilySearch is often illegally inserted, corrected by unrelated family members, volunteers or authorities who do not have permission from the family.

I am also interested to find out how these authorities worldwide are providing freely data to the mormons without the families' consent.

I found my grandfather's data and my grandmother's original birth certificate on the mormon church website (now the mormon church - illegally and without consent - owns my grandparents data and certificates). Apparently a member called 'zeeeeee' — who confirmed that has NO relation to my family — uploaded my grandmother's birth certificate, which now became the property of an American mormon church without the consent of the family.

We did NOT and do NOT consent to this use and we are outraged.

Budapest Archive claims that the National Archives of Hungary made an agreement with the mormon church.

The National Archives of Hungary claims the data on the FamilySearch website are copies of their archives and that international agreement was made in the 1990s, but later they wrote that it was a 'mistake' and then corrected that it was done based on an agreement (in the 1960s) between the mormon church and the National Archives of Hungary, which they refuse to disclose. But where is this agreement? And who authorized the National Archives of Hungary to sell/transfer/share the data of deceased Hungarian people. This was done without the authorization of the Hungarian people, ILLEGALLY.

I asked the National Archives of Hungary to reveal this international agreement or document authorising them to sell/transfer the data and private certificates of deceased Hungarian people.

I am NOT aware about the Hungarian people authorizing the Hungarian government or any authority/agency to sell, transfer, make public, share or any of this kind regarding their deceased family members' data including original birth, marriage, religious and death certificates. According to my knowledge the Hungarian people were NEVER informed regarding the matter, thus they could have NEVER AUTHORIZED the National Archives of Hungary to sell/transfer/share their deceased family member's data and certificates. This was done without authorisation and illegally.

Regardless of your nationality or religion the mormon church has taken over your deceased family members' data and private certificates: www.familysearch.org/search/collection/list.

In fact the mormon church now OWNS the data and private documents of deceased people in Africa, Europe, Middle East, Asia, Australia, America... the whole world, the entire planet, possible even other planets...D

I doubt that people — knowing all the above about the mormon church — would consent to sharing their deceased family members' data or private certificates.

Data protection and data selling are relatively new areas, not properly or not at all protected by law.

I certainly believe this should be thoroughly investigated and the public should be informed.

What do you think about your family's data and private documents given, sold, transferred to a scandalous mormon church based in Utah, in the USA?

This huge data collection (including birth/marriage/religious/death certificates) of the entire planet, 4+ billion people claimed by FamilySearch, definitely does NOT look as an INNOCENT family charity... I invite you to read How mormons built the next silicon valley while no one was looking...

What is the REAL reason/purpose behind this huge and ILLEGAL data collection?!
